On the evening of June 23d, his house was invaded by the prilec, who, accompanied by the etranger, intimated to him as well as his wife, the order given by the inquisitor to possess themselves of one of his boys, an interesting ladeit years of age, named Edger, under pretence that beptism had been administered to him, without indicating any circumstance, either of time or place.

The miscrable percent, struck as by lightning at the idea of seeing their darling boy carried off, excited the compassion of the agents of the mandate in order to gain time to report to the authorists, guarding, in the mean time, the house of the child. —At about quarter past five o'clock yeaterday af-ternoon, an accident occurred at the Newton Corner Depot crossing of the Batton and Wor-cester Railroad. The New York inward express train was approaching the crossing, and the flag man was at his post with his lantern, when a horse attached to a chaise, driven by a weman was seen approaching at a rapid rete on the town road. The flagmen made a signal for her to stop, and the engineer of the train, as soon as he saw the chaise, blew his whistle, without effect. The horse had got nearly across the track when the locomotive struck bim, and probably killed him instantly. The body was thrown upon the cow-catcher and dragged along by the engine;—the chaise was whirled round and dragged for some distance at the side of the train. When the train was stopped the woman was found rolled up in the body of the chaise at the side of the track in an inse sible condition.

She was immediately taken into the millinery store of Mrs. G. Moore, and Dr. H. Bigelew sent for, who ascertained that no hones were broken for, who ascertained that no bones were broken or bodily injury of consequence sustained. She shortly afterwards revived, and if no internal in jury has been inflicted will soon recover from the chock which she has undoubtedly received. Her name is Farwell, wife of Mr. Farwell, of the firm of Royal Gilkey & Co., coal and lumber dealers, Watertown, and daughter of Mr. Norcross of Newton Centre. From those who witnessed the accident, we learn that, so far as they could indee, the horse was not under the control could judge, the horse was not under the control of the driver at the time of the accident, and her husband states that the horse has been known to run occasionally. The figman at this station, Mr. Welch, we know to be always saithful in the performance of his duty. The escape of Mrs. Farwell from instant death is certainly most remarkable, as the chaise was badly broken. - Boston Iraveller, Oct. 22.

TEACH YOUR CHILDREN TO SWIM .- LEVI BUCE. a boy not yet twelve years old, was one of the passengers in the burned steamer Austria, and saved his life by swimming nearly an hour. The brave little fellow is the son of Mr. S. Buck, of Washington, D. C. The narrative of this child appears in the Washington Star, and is as intelligible and se interesting as the narrative of the adult survivors. He says:

I was under the charge of my aust, who is I was under the charge of my auct, who is about twenty-four years of age. At the time the fire broke out we were on deck, and the captain was asleep, and they waked him up, when he rushed upon deck and exclaimed, "Children, we are all lost!" The captain then stripped off his coat and jumped overboard. There was great excitement among the passengers, and they tried to get the fire buckets, but they could not, as the buckets were all fastened and could not be got loss. The lightpots were filled with the Wednesday last by a brother-in-law of Mr. De Graff, the contractor on the Transit road, between Winous and St. Peter. It seems that the farmer contended that he had not been remunerated by that company for damages done to his land, and he percemptorily refused to allow the railroad men to cross his premises until the matter had been satisfactorily settled; a difficulty ensued between him and the other party, when the latter diew a pistel and fired at the farmer, the ball extering his breast, and inflicting a very serious, if not fatal wound. The affair had created great excitement in that vicinity, and messengers have been sent in nearly every direction to arrest the perpetrator. The wounded man was still living, secording to the latter accounts, but his recovering to onsidered an impossibility.—St. Paul Minnesotian, of Saturday.

ATTENTIL ACCIDENT.—The Jones School, situated at the corner of Clark and Harrison streets, was yesterday morning the theatre of a terrible accident, which must inevitably terminate fatally to at least one of the victims.

Workmen are now engaged in putting a tar and sand roof upon the building, and for the convenience of holeting their material to the roof had rigged a plank projecting over the eaves about four feet, to the end of which was attached their tackle. During the morning recess, a number of the boys had seized the fall of the tackle, with which they were at play, when The storm has done considerable damage in the Third Ward. The waves deshed with ter-tible fury over the beach, completely submerging the lower part of the ward, and earlying away cess, a number of the boys had selized tho fall of the tackle, with which they were at play, when the plank broke, and the end falling to the ground struck among a crowd of boys, leveling three of them to the ground.

One of them was but slightly hurt, and at once started for home, and left the ground so that they were unable to learn his name.

Another, a child about five years of age, son of a widow lady named Caherine Greenhill, was at once taken home to the residence of his moother, on Polk street, between Clark and Gde-

The President and Cabinet say emphatically that whatever course particular northern democrats may pursue concerning the English bill, they intend to stand by the provision excluding Kansas until she has a population of ninety-three thousand, ascertained by the census, and will insist upon that condition as a party test. This declaration will be substantially affirmed in the message.

The English Traveller.—A traveler who had passed with a guide safely through the Bleche de Roland, in the Pyrenees, suddenly conceived the idea of clambring an adjacent peak, simply because he was told that every one who had yet attempted it had paid the toriciture of his life. The more the guide endeavored to discussed him, the more firmly he resolved to accomplish the task or perish. He had already achieved a third of the accent of this almost perpendicular erag, overhanging a rocky gorge 2,000 feet, below

Spring Street, Milwatkee, Milwa il could not tell which was which. And none but women of grace can wear well the new dress. What hours of study must be spent before the train can be managed, before the wearer can walk into a drawing room, or tuke a seat at the table, or a stroll in the street! This, too, will preve a Corinth every body cannot visit. Thank the mantua makers, the reign of medicerity is at end, and women who possess grace and a fine person, and all the charms of their sex, may now use and abuse them—while the awkward, illemeds, deformed, unfinished argenting women.

to that over the Designatine Gand. Since the Price of the Dundae people to allow a permanent bridge to be erected unless on terms which the Great Western thought too onerous the construction of an iron swing bridge has been determined on. The substitution of iron for wood elsewhere is not so urgently demanded, and perhaps it will not be made so soon. It is however, only a question of time.

MINNESOTA RAILEGAD LAND GRANT OFFERED TO CANADIAN RAILWAYS.—We understand that the grant of lands made by Congress to the Minnesota and Pacitic Reilroad Company, on that portice extending from St. Paul to the Brilleh line at Pembica, will be effered to those owning the great railway lines through Canada This will give those companies a route through our territory to the British possessions on the Pacific. This road is entitled to near two millions of acres along the valley of the Mississippi and Rod Rivers, said to be very valuable, worth, with the road built, it is estimated, at least $15 per acre. Allowing the road to cost $25,000 per mile, it will leave to our Canadian cours the sum of $15,000,000 over the cest of construction and equipment. It is important from other "stand-points." It affords these road an onlet through three of our most important grain-growing tures of our most important grain-growing States—Michigan, Wilconsin and Minnesota— traversing their very centres, thus draining their surplue products by the Canadian routes to the MORTALIST AT SEA-BRIG PICKED UP DERE-LICE.—Captain Nelson, of the steemship Orizaba, scrived at New Orleans from Key West, via Flor-ids, reports that on the 28th ult, at 5 P. M., when 15 miles off St. Martin's Reef, he saw a when to make on St. Markins Acet, he saw a brig at accher, showing signs of distress, and made for her. She proved to be the British brig Eepersary, Gapt. Ruse, from Vora Cruz, loaded with mahogany, and bound for Liverpool. Captsin Nelson boarded the brig, and found the Soils, etc., resourced the forestyle of the art at the captain dead, and two of the men down with the yet-fire dif.

A Leviathan.—Oapt. Byl, of the Dutch bark Hendrik Ido Ambacht, communicates to us the following: Sailing in the South Atlantic Ocean, in lat. 37:27 S., long. 14:61 E., and with very rough weather, we observed, between 12 and 1 mid-day of the 9th June, a frightful sea mouster, which for the space of nine days remsined constantly beside the ship. The monster was about 90 feet long, and 25 to 30 feet broad, and frequently came with such force against the ship as to cause her to tremble all over. It spouted a great deal of water over the deck, of a very disagreeable smell. The Captain, fearing that the monster might damage the rudder, tried all means to get rid of it. After more than 100 musket balls had been fired into it, and a largeon and a long iron bar buried in its body, the blood was observed flowing from many wounds, so that at last, through loss of strength, it could no longer keep up with the ship, and was lost eight of. Its skin was torn in many places in consequence of its striking violently against the exper.—Java Bods, July 28. five years old.
